DEVELOPMENT AND INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION: DEVELOPMENT OF THE ENERGY RESOURCES OF DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

Pakistan*: draft resolution

Development of the energy resources of developing countries

The Economic and Social Council,

Reaffirming the critical importance of the development of energy resources of developing countries and the need for measures by the international community to assist and support the efforts of developing countries, in particular the energy-deficient among them, to develop their energy resources in order to meet their needs through cooperation, assistance and investment in the field of conventional and of new and renewable sources of energy, consistent with their national policies, plans and priorities,

Reaffirming also that the developing countries have the primary responsibility for the strategies and policies for the exploration and development of their energy resources,

1. Takes note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on energy exploration and development trends in developing countries; 1/

* On behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Group of 77 and in accordance with rule 72 of the rules of procedure of the Economic and Social Council.

1/ A/47/202-E/1992/51.

2. Reaffirms that an adequate flow of external resources in support of the national efforts of developing countries, in particular the energy-deficient among them, is needed to finance, within the legislative framework of each country, the exploration and development of their energy resources;

3. Requests the Secretary-General to keep the matter under constant review and to submit to the Economic and Social Council at its substantive session of 1994 a report on the efforts made in this regard;

4. Strongly endorses the recommendation of the Secretary-General 2/ that the General Assembly consider the preparation of an expanded programme of action in order to mobilize the international community to increase efforts for comprehensive national, bilateral and multilateral measures to accelerate the exploration and development of energy resources in developing countries, with full respect to their national sovereignty.

REGIONAL COOPERATION

Pakistan*: draft resolution

Strengthening the role of the regional commissions

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling General Assembly resolutions 45/264 of 13 May 1991 and 46/235 of 13 April 1992 on the restructuring and revitalization of the United Nations in the economic, social and related fields and recalling also General Assembly resolution 46/145 of 17 December 1991 on regional economic integration among developing countries and other relevant General Assembly resolutions,

Taking note of the report of the Secretary-General on regional cooperation, 1/

Bearing in mind that regional economic integration is important in expanding trade and investment, particularly in developing countries, and that regional economic integration has the potential to strengthen global economic and social development,

1. Urges the regional commissions to strengthen their role in assisting developing countries to promote accelerated development through an integrated approach;

* On behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Group of 77.

1/ E/1992/65.

2. Recommends that, when preparing regional technical cooperation programmes, the regional commissions, the United Nations Development Programme, the United Nations Population Fund and other relevant United Nations bodies, coordinate their work, with the aim of achieving a better and more focused use of available resources, greater coherence of action and, therefore, greater and more concentrated impact;

3. Also recommends that the regional commissions participate fully in the programme budget process at United Nations Headquarters;

4. Urges that priority setting for programming should take fully into account the views of the membership;

5. Also urges the regional commissions, at the request of Member States, together with the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, in accordance with the Cartagena commitment, 2/ to contribute to the identification, preparation and implementation of specific projects to facilitate economic integration and to submit them to bilateral donors, regional development banks and financial institutions for their consideration;

6. Requests each regional commission, as appropriate, to study the possibility of assisting Member States to participate fully and effectively at the sessions of the regional commissions;

7. Stresses the role and important contribution of the regional commissions, within their mandates, in the follow-up and implementation of the decisions, adopted by the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, in particular those contained in Agenda 21;

8. Requests the Secretary-General to submit a report to the Council at its substantive session of 1993 on the progress made in the implementation of the present resolution.
